1. The first part of the paper is devoted to a discussion of the general principles of the theory of the structure of the atomic nucleus. It is shown that the structure of the nucleus is determined by the balance of the forces of attraction and repulsion between the nucleons. The forces of attraction are of two types: the strong interaction and the electromagnetic interaction. The strong interaction is responsible for the binding of the nucleons into a nucleus, while the electromagnetic interaction is responsible for the repulsion between the protons. The balance of these forces determines the stability of the nucleus and its structure.

1. The first part of the paper is devoted to a study of the properties of the function $f(x)$ defined by the equation

$$f(x) = \sum_{n=0}^{\infty} \frac{a_n}{n!} x^n$$

where a_n is a sequence of real numbers.

It is shown that if the sequence a_n satisfies the condition

$$\lim_{n \rightarrow \infty} \frac{a_{n+1}}{a_n} = L$$

then the function $f(x)$ is entire and its order is $\rho = \frac{1}{L}$. If $L = 0$, then $\rho = \infty$. If $L = \infty$, then $\rho = 0$.

1. The first part of the paper is devoted to a discussion of the general principles of the theory of the structure of the atom. It is shown that the structure of the atom is determined by the laws of quantum mechanics, and that the structure of the atom is not a static one, but a dynamic one, in which the electrons are in constant motion.

2. The second part of the paper is devoted to a discussion of the structure of the atom, and to the question of the stability of the atom.
